

Leading beyond the organisation

– a Systems Leadership Approach

In these challenging and uncertain times, leaders within the Adult & Community Learning sector need to develop an effective and cohesive strategy to drive their business forward. This one-day leadership course, with leading experts in their field, will cover key areas including:

- State of the sector
- Area Reviews
- Devolution Agenda
- Adaptive Leadership and Knowing your Authorisation Environment
- Effective Governance and Scrutiny.

Our guest speakers include Karen Edge, Reader in Educational Leadership at the University College London (UCL), Marilyn Hawkins, Deputy FE Commissioner Adviser, currently involved in Area Based Reviews across the London area and Jon Thorn, Skills Funding Agency, involved in the devolution agenda.

The course, developed in partnership with the Education & Training Foundation (ETF), is designed specifically for Senior Managers and aspiring Senior Managers from within the Adult & Community Learning sector.

What previous delegates said about the programme:

“An incredibly useful event. I gained a lot of new information, lots of new ideas to put into practice”.

“A great networking opportunity”

“An excellent event. Very welcoming. Trainers very knowledgeable. I learnt a lot!” Thank you

Key Speakers

Dr Karen Edge is a Reader in Educational Leadership at UCL, an academic and advocate committed to asking new questions that shake up how educational leaders think about opportunities and challenges. Karen regularly gives talks and supports organisations in relation to knowledge management, leadership, networks, talent spotting, retention and well-being.

Marilyn Hawkins Marilyn Hawkins has spent over 30 years in Further Education, including the roles of Principal and Chief Executive at Barnet and Southgate Colleges and has Chaired the 157 Group. Marilyn has been a member of the FE Commissioner's team since 2013, now working as Deputy FE Commissioner supporting the Area Review process. She is an integral part of the ETF Leadership Pipeline project, and has particular expertise in succession planning and career progression, alongside offering strategic support to senior leaders and Governing Boards.

Jon Thorn Jon is seconded to the Greater London Authority focusing on Skills Devolution and Area Reviews. His substantive role is the Head of Apprenticeship Development at the National Apprenticeship Service at the Skills Funding Agency. Jon started his career at South London Training and Enterprise Council, leading to a number of roles within the former Learning & Skills Council, including strategic planning for Apprenticeships and Train to Gain as well as developing the Mayor's Skills and Employment strategy.
